

AUTUMN 2024 NEWSLETTER

"Supporting those who support us"

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Welcome to the 2024 Autumn edition of the Community Supporting Police (CSP) newsletter. It has been an eventful beginning to the year with the addition of new members, an increase in the community events, and a review of the CSP Constitution and associated documents. In addition, CSP has received a grant from the Community Gambling Fund \(Round 118\) to purchase electrical goods and furniture.

Upon taking up the President's role in September 2023, I set myself four outcomes to be achieved during 2024:

- Review the Community Supporting Police (CSP) Constitution and associated documents as required;
- Circulate a letter to businesses that addresses building relationships with the Queensland Police Service (QPS) and also seek the sale of merchandise or sponsorship;
- Circulate the CSP Newsletter to a broader audience; and
- Build the number of volunteers in the Brisbane and surrounding areas to assist the commitments of CSP.

As a result of our Constitution being 10 years old and achieving Charity Status with the Australian Charities and Not-for-Profits Commission (ACNC), the Management Committee agreed that it was timely to review and update our Constitution and associated documents. I am pleased to advise that we have engaged Craig Ray and Associates, Solicitors to assist in this task. Work has begun, and we are making progress working with Craig Ray's team.

Objective one outlined in the CSP Constitution is to foster friendship between the community and police, their families and friends. All members attending various functions and events undertake this role and in addition, I will be writing to businesses to assist in building relationships as well as attempting to sell more of our unique Queensland Police Service (QPS) branded merchandise. It is very pleasing to see some businesses promoting our brand around the state.

The CSP Newsletter is circulated far and wide throughout the State and now is provided to the Queensland Commissioned Officers Union (QPCOU), Queensland Police Union of Employees (QPUE), Valley Chamber of Commerce (VCC) and the Queensland Retired Police Association (QRPA).

The hardest objective to achieve, is the obtaining of more volunteers to assist at events in and around the Brisbane metropolitan area. As I have previously reported, since the outbreak of COVID-19 there has been a significant reduction in the number of persons volunteering throughout Australia (approximately 600,000 less).

During 2024 there are approximately 25 events to be attended in the Brisbane area. Events like the Royal Queensland Show or commonly referred to as the EKKA held in August of each year requires two shifts a day over a ten-day period. We rely on the goodwill of the same people every year. It would be fantastic to see some new faces assisting at events. If you or anyone you know can assist throughout 2024, please contact the CSP Secretary.

In late 2023 the CSP Marketing Officer, Debbie Nicholson applied to the Community Gambling Fund (Round 118) and obtained a grant that is to be shared amongst Brisbane, Toowoomba, Rockhampton, Townsville and Cairns to purchase electrical and furniture items. An email has been sent to the regional committees to submit their requirements for purchases.

Thank you, Debbie for submitting our application and being successful.

Have a fantastic 2024.

Dan Mahon APM

Community Supporting Police Inc.

Vale Brevet Sergeant Jason Doig

Brevet Sergeant Jason Doig, a "highly respected" and experienced officer was shot and died at the scene a property in Senior, near the Victorian-South Australian border, on 17 November 2013.

Another officer Sergeant Michael Hutchinson sustained a non-life-threatening gunshot wound. A third officer, Constable Rebekah Cass, who also attended the property was not injured.

Police Commissioner Grant Stevens said Sergeant Doig was allegedly shot and killed by an offender at the property in in South Australia's upper south-east.

Commissioner Stevens described Sergeant Doig as an experienced officer who was "highly respected by his peers".

The offender, 26, was shot by police and received life-threatening injuries.

Commissioner Stevens advised that both Sergeant Hutchinson and Constable Cass, provided care to both Jason and the 26-year-old man at the scene prior to other help arriving".

"For those two officers to act in the way they did in such difficult circumstances speaks volumes for their courage and their commitment to their duty and their colleagues". Commissioner Stevens said.

Sergeant Doig, 53, was the officer in charge of the Lucindale Police Station, about 140 kilometres south of the crime scene, and was one of three officers to attend the property about 11:20pm.

The officers were at the property to investigate a report of "the use of a firearm involving an animal", but there was nothing to suggest "that it was a high-risk incident they were attending".

"This tragedy serves as a very clear reminder that policing is dangerous work."

Rest in Peace

Thank you for your service

The Queensland Police Service celebrates 160 years!

On January 1, 1864, Lieutenant David Thompson Seymour, previously of the 12th (East Suffolk) Regiment became the first Commissioner of the newly inaugurated Queensland Police Force. At this time, the entire police force consisted of 151 foot and mounted officers and 136 native police.

Commissioner Seymour was responsible for creating the detective force in 1864, sending Indigenous trackers to Victoria in 1880 to assist in the hunt for Ned Kelly and incorporating the Water Police into the force in 1893.

When Commissioner Seymour retired in 1895 (after 31 years of service!) the Queensland Police Force had grown to 907 officers.

The Queensland Police Service now employs more than 17,000 members, among them 12,000 police officers, as well as police liaison officers, protective services officers, watch house officers and staff members.

We think Commissioner Seymour would be pleased with the way his Force has evolved into a Service, with many more specialist units, including units that might seem outrageous to a 19th century former soldier.

The Dive Squad, the Mounted Unit and the Dog Squad would be easy to understand, less so the Police Air Operations, the Forensic Crash Unit and the Financial and Cyber Crime Group!

Commissioner Seymour might also struggle to understand our current eligibility requirements. Candidates for the Queensland Police Service in the 19th century had to be:

- * Under the age of 30 years, unless they were a former officer from another police force, in which case they could be 35 years old.
- * Must be at least five feet eight inches tall (without their boots!).
- * Couldn't be married.
- * Couldn't get married without permission from the Commissioner.
- * Have a strong constitution and "free from any bodily complaint.
- * Able to read and write well.
- * Have character testimonials, either from "those under whom they have served at home, or from persons of free respectability in the colony."

While the current eligibility requirements for the service have changed quite a bit, the requirement for physical and mental fitness and the high standard of past behaviour and conduct remain the same.

Fortem Supporting Australia's First Responders

Responding with Resilience

Fortem is Australia's leading not for profit organisation, delivering mental health and wellbeing support to first responders and their families.

Every day, more than 370,000 first responders protect and care for Australian communities. They serve as the dependable backbone we lean on for help in times of disaster, or during moments of crisis.

However, first responder work can come at a significant personal cost. The demands of being first on the scene for others can often mean being last on the scene for self and family.

This is where Fortem steps in. We believe those who devote their time to making our communities safer shouldn't have to hurt from helping us, nor should their families have to experience the spillover stress of the job. That is why we exist.

Over the last four years, we have adopted an early-intervention, preventative mental health, and wellbeing framework, providing our support to more than 16,000 first responders across Australia to boost their resilience in the face of tough conditions.

Through in-person and virtual social connection and wellbeing activities, confidential counselling, online resources, and strategic career management, we help turn struggle into strength.

Many of Fortem's team members have direct experience as a first responder and understand the mental health and wellbeing challenges inherent in such work. We recognise that meaningful support requires a balance of science and heart, combining the latest research with genuine lived experience.

Our evidence-informed programs have been developed in line with extensive research, in conjunction with senior leaders from state based first responder agencies, national law enforcement agencies and representative agencies from Australia's National Intelligence Community. This ensures that we stay up to date with the needs of the first responder community we serve and complement existing internal service offerings.

As we move into our fifth year of operation, Fortem will continue to act as a voice, advocating for the needs of first responders nationwide, break down the stigmas associated with mental health, strive for better wellbeing literacy, and provide the vital services required to advance the resilience of those who protect us, to ensure first responders remain bendable, not breakable.

Fortem's services are open and accepting self-referrals for our first responder community and their inner circles. You can find out more by visiting: fortemaustralia.org.au.

12 June 2024 "Thank a First Responder Day"

First responders are ordinary people. They have families, commitments, and homes to go to at the end of their working day. They've got dinner to make, shopping to do, and bills to pay.

But they also dedicate every day to protecting and keeping us safe.

Whether it's the firefighters who battle the infernos that wreak havoc on our nation, the paramedics who respond to emergency situations every day, the triple zero operators who provide life-saving emergency call-taking and dispatch, the marine rescue teams, police and lifesavers working to find missing persons and keep our communities safe, or the SES men and women who leave their own families at home to ensure that another family has a roof over their heads. We owe every one of them – as well as the families who support them through it all – a debt of gratitude.

Yet many of Australia's 300,000 first responders receive little thanks for what they do. We need to change that. On 12 June 2024 please join us in saying two simple words to our first responders: Thank you. fortemaustralia.org.au.

Community Supporting Police Inc. (CSP) was established in 1991, to support police and their families following the Fitzgerald Enquiry. Over the past 32 years, CSP and its volunteers, under the motto: "supporting those who support us", have assisted thousands of Queensland Police Service (QPS) members and their families in times of trauma and crisis.

The aims of Community Supporting Police Inc are to:

*Provide emergency accommodation free of charge throughout QPS members and their immediate family.

* Maintain emergency accommodation with volunteer assistance.

* Fundraise through special events, merchandise sales and donations to fund the aims.

With the generous support of the QPS and the QPS Chaplaincy network, CSP manages 9 properties across Queensland as emergency welfare accommodation for all members of the QPS family. Five of these are in Brisbane, with the remainder located in Townsville, Cairns, Rockhampton and Toowoomba. Unfortunately, these facilities are in constant and regular demand across the State.

CSP also maintains Dyas Homestead at Einasliegh, which is utilised, as respite accommodation by officers who work in stressful situations in Far North Queensland. The former police station is still used by members of the QPS as a venue for community meetings and social activities.

CSP provides furniture, white goods, electrical appliances, cutlery, crockery, linen and bedding to all emergency welfare accommodation units and houses within their district. Further to these items Community Supporting Police funds the ongoing costs associated with general maintenance, cleaning, and payment of utility bills.

CSP has a distinctive selection of merchandise items for sale through selected Police Beats and the Queensland Police Headquarters shop (ground floor 200, Roma Street Brisbane). Merchandise can also be purchased online via www.csp.asn.au

Like all community groups, CSP is constantly seeking new members and supporters, so we can continue to support the members of the QPS and their families during difficult times, to continue to "support those who support us".

To become a member and play an integral part in CSP's mission to help QPS families, only requires a $20.00 annual membership and any amount of time (small or large) that you can give to help out at one or more of our many CSP events held across the State throughout the year.

The members who attend these events have great fun meeting and mixing with lots of wonderful people from all walks of life.

Out and About

Country Kitchen's Shepherd's Pie (serves 6)

Ingredients:

- 4 medium potatoes, diced
- 1 tablespoon extra virgin olive oil
- 1 small onion
- 1/4 capsicum, diced
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger, minced
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 500g lean lamb mince
- 1 carrot, diced
- 1 zucchini, diced
- 8 broccoli florets, diced
- 1/2 cup peas
- 1 small can of corn kernels, drained
- 1 tomato, diced
- 1/2 teaspoon turmeric powder
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- 1/4 cup milk, reduced fat
- 1 teaspoon butter
- 1/2 cup cheese, reduced fat, grated.

Great for Autumn Night Dinner Enjoy!!!

Method:

1. Pre-heat oven 180 degrees
2. Bring a pot of water to the boil and cook the potatoes until tender,
3. Drain the potatoes and set aside
4. Heat the oil in frypan over medium heat and saute the onion, capsicum, ginger and garlic until softened (about 5 minutes)
5. Add the mince to the frypan, stirring to break up any lumps
6. Heat the mince till cooked through (around 10 minutes)
7. Add the other vegetables (except the potatoes), the tomatoes and turmeric and a little bit of water (if necessary)
8. Cook, covered, for additional 5 minutes
9. Stir through the tomato paste and simmer
10. Mash the potatoes with milk and butter until smooth
11. Spoon the meat mixture into a large over-proof dish (or 4 small dishes) and spread with mashed potato
12. Sprinkle with grated cheese
13. Bake in oven for 10 –15 minutes, or until the cheese is melted and top is golden brown.

Just a bit of trivia.

Shepherd's Pie has its origins in Ireland and made its way to the United Kingdom in the 17 and 1800's, as a great way to use up left overs.

Unlike the Cottage Pie which is made from beef mince the shepherd's pie got its name because the Irish used lamb mince.

DOB IN A DEALER

Your community.
Your call.

Did you know that Australia has one of the highest rates of illegal use per capita of drugs in the world?

Criminal drug related activity is not only costing Australians millions of dollars in healthcare and law enforcement, but it is tragically and unnecessarily costing hundreds of human lives each year.

The Australian Government and Crime Stoppers' 'Dob in a Dealer' campaign aims to stop the manufacture, supply and dealing of drugs in Australian local communities by reporting drug-dealers and drug related activity.

Drug use stops with the dealers and Crime Stoppers need support from its local communities to identify dealers of illicit drugs.

It's your community. So, it's your call.
